

Friends of Guiding Brownsea Island (FOGBI) exists to provide support and to stimulate more interest in Brownsea Island in Poole Harbour.

Brownsea Island is the place where Lord Baden Powell held his experimental camp in 1907 which then led to the foundation of Scouting and Guiding.

FOGBI would like to make visits to Brownsea Island more affordable for any Unit in Dorset that would like to visit (either for a day or for a residential) but would have difficulty funding such a visit.

Applications are invited from Units who need help to enable their Unit to visit the island

If your Unit or an individual member of your Unit would benefit from a small grant (of between £50-£100) towards the cost of a visit, then please complete and return the application form on the next page by post or scanned and emailed .

Please submit further evidence if there are particular financial difficulties that may require additional assistance. All applications are dealt with in confidence.

Grants may be limited if your Unit has already received a grant from FOGBI within the last couple of years and most of your girls have already benefited from our grant.

Please submit your application in plenty of time to give FOGBI time to consider your application.

Closing date. Usually one month before the date for your visit.
